I have two years of experience in web development and in my spare time I am passionate about creating different projects. These include several larger projects, during which I created more complex web applications. I have it in the professional toolbox HTML, CSS, JavaScript, TypeScript and React or Redux Toolkit knowledge, and I actively use them during my developments. For me, web development is not only a job, but also a passion, and I always strive to improve my skills and face new challenges in the field.
